

What if I don't have a loan?

As part of the tax laws, which the Federal Government have previously passed, you are able to salary package past expenses.

For tax law purposes the most important date, the only relevant date, is the date you are reimbursed for your expense by your employer.

The date on the invoice, receipt, bank statement or credit card is not taken into account at all.

As part of your salary package you will be reimbursed for expenses which you have already paid for. These expenses could be in relation to the following;

- Motor Vehicle Purchase
- Purchase of white goods
- Purchase of TV's, Stereo Systems, DVD's and Home Theatres
- Household Furniture
- Airline Travel – Domestic and International

Eziway's experienced consultants will in the interview process explain in detail if this method of reimbursement is the most beneficial.
